Largest Amount Will Go to Samuel Lieberman for 38.7 Acres Along Route 55

Experts Testify

Lieberman Parcel's Value Is Testified to by Real Estate Experts

Commissioners MacLay, Osterhoudt and Dobris, members of Delaware Section 7 Commission filed their third separate report Thursday in the office of the county clerk in which awards in 13 additional claims are made. The awards range from $1,200 to $27,000 and the total amount of the awards in this report for taking of property for the New York city water project is $128,700.

Appearing for the City of New York in various of the claims was Henry R. Bright, John E. Egan and Vincent G. Connelly, for the corporation counsel's office.

Largest Grant

The largest award was in the case of Sam Lieberman, Parcel 1290, who appeared by Cleon B. Murray. This was a complete taking of 38.7 acres on route 55. The property had been used for boarding house purposes and contained many substantial structures including dormitories, dining room, casino, tennis courts, etc. The owners had testified the structures were worth approximately $35,000 and real estate experts for the claimants testified to real property was worth approximately $37,000. New York city's witnesses placed a value of about $15,000 on the structures and $15,000 on the real property. The award by the commission was $27,000.

Other awards were for Parcel No. 1312, George Hoff, owner, a complete taking of 2 acres in Montela where the claimant, represented by Thomas J. Plunkett, claimed a value of $19,000. The award by the commission was $13,200.

Parcel No. 1334, Alida Vandermark, owner, a complete taking of 16.4 acres on route 55. Purchased by claimant and her husband in 1906 for $650, she testified to many improvements since and her witnesses valued it at figures as high as $9,650. The award was $5,400. Cleon B. Murray appeared for Mrs. Vandermark.

Award for Parcel No. 1310, Samuel Halpern, owner, was $19,100. This was a partial taking of 92 out of 149 acres. Property in Montela used for hotel purposes was valued at from $36,500 to $44,145. Owner offered evidence of reproduction cost less depreciation of the structures of $18,560. The city claimed the value to be $11,000 before the taking and $572 after the taking. Charles W. Walton appeared for claimant.

Award for Parcel 1337, William Vandermark, owner, $20,000. A. J. Cook appeared for claimant. This was a partial taking of 71.1 acres out of a total of 276. Located on route 55 near Montela, this property had considerable timber on it and also a chain of small lakes. One real estate agent for claimant gave a value of $26,000 prior to the taking and $3,720 after.

Award for Parcel 1308, Goldie Lasher, owner, was $4,800. Chris J. Flanagan appeared for the claimant. This was a taking of 21 acres out of 35. Located on Route 55 between Lackawack and Montela, the property had been rented during the past four years for $10 a year. Quarries on the property were also offered by the owner as valuable. The value before the taking was placed at $10,300 before the taking and $360 after by claimant's witnesses.

Award for Parcel 1303, Gordon Eck, owner, $1,200. George F. Kaufman for claimant. This is a small complete taking of 6-10 acre near Montela. Claimant had rented the property for several months for $5 per month.

Award for Parcel 1293, W. G. Martin and Elsie Teed, claimants, $10,000. Thomas J. Plunkett for claimants. Taking is slightly over 80 acres out of about 179. Located on both sides of route 55 between Lackawack and Montela, the owners testified reproduction cost less depreciation of structures was over $14,000. In 1930, at the time of taking, the owners claimed the entire property was worth $23,687.50 and after the taking but $2,465.

Award for Parcel 1324, Thomas Connor, owner, $9,300. Thomas J. Plunkett for claimant. This was a taking of 109 acres out of 140. Claimants testified to a value of $16,400 in 1930 before the taking and $2,690 after.

Vast Civilian Horde Precedes Army Exodus From Ceded Sections

Ahead of Troops March 100,000 Men, Women and Children, Part of 460,000 Who Must Find New Homes; Some to Go Back

Helsinki, March 15 (AP)—The Finnish army slogged through the snows today in funeral retreat, beginning its withdrawal from the fronts it so stubbornly defended in three and one-half months of war but which now are ceded to Soviet Russia.

Ahead of the soldiers there hurried 100,000 dispossessed civilians. They traveled by automobile, wagon and train or on foot, herding their livestock before them and carrying bundles that were the salvage of personal property.

A. & P. Signs Lease For Super-Market At Terminal Site

Building Must Be Ready by June 1 and Local Labor Will Be Used on Construction

Under a lease signed Thursday by Martha Allen of West Hurley and the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., the property located at 91-97 North Front street is taken over for a term of years by the A. & P. for the purpose of operating a super-market.

On the premises, which have been used for a time as a bus terminal, will be erected a modern type of self-service super market in accordance with plans prepared by Albert E. Millekin. The lease for the premises was negotiated through the firm of Mann and Gross, real estate operators at 277 Fair street.

The A. & P. for several years operated a grocery store on Wall street. At the expiration of the lease this spring that property was given up and since then the A. & P. has had no store in the uptown business section. Negotiations for leasing the Allen property on North Front street have been pending for some time but it was not until Thursday that the signed lease finally closed the deal and put the owners and lessee in position to begin actual operations toward erecting the market.

Plans have already been prepared by Mr. Millekin for a modern type one-story building 66 by 120 feet in size. Estimates have been received and it is expected that the contract will be awarded in a few days and that ground will be broken and construction of the building will be under way by April 1.

Interviewed Thursday, Mann & Gross said that under the lease the building was to be completed June 1 for occupancy and that all local labor would be used on the construction.

It is also understood that when the market is completed local help will be employed and that preference will be given to the employees who formerly were connected with the store on Wall street.

Plans call for a very modern type of one-story super-market building with the latest type of fixtures.

The lease includes all of the plot of ground which has been used as the uptown-terminal on North Front street and includes the entire lot which is 96 by 180 feet in size. The main building will be 66 by 120 feet and the balance of 66 by 120 feet and the balance of 66 by 120 feet.

Army Officers Given Showing Of Inventor's 'Detonator Ray'

Oakland, Calif., March 15 (AP)—Little heaps of gunpowder exploded mysteriously in the open air as army officers watched a demonstration of a "detonator ray" described by its inventor as potentially able to blow up enemy ammunition and gasoline stores at a distance.

The demonstration was staged yesterday by Otto H. Mohr, elderly inventor, after spending several months in constructing the machine. Mohr said he had offered the device to the government as a possible instrument of defense.

Mohr declined to tell exactly how the machine operated but said it depended on both sunlight and electric power and produced vibration which caused the powder to explode.

The powder was poured into lids and bottoms of ordinary tin coffee cans, about a teaspoonful on each. The cans were set on the ground about 20 feet from the instrument.

The machine is a box-like thing about as big as a good-sized table model radio set. In one end is a short tube-like affair pointing to the material to be exploded. On top of the box is a coil of wire suggesting an electro-magnet and a small antenna-like structure of wires roughly in the shape of a cone. Along the axis of the cone runs a slender pipe into the box. An electric cord leading out of the box was plugged into an ordi-

Some Will Return

These 100,000 bring to about 460,000 the number who must find new homes. A half-million persons already are refugees, but 140,000 of them are from battered territories which Finland retains and to which they will be able to return.

While the Red army held its positions, marking time until Finnish troops have fallen back the required seven kilometers (about four and one-half miles) in one day, the Finnish withdrawal started at 10 a. m. along a zig-zag 226-mile front in the south-east, extending from the Virolahti archipelago on the Gulf of Finland to the Russian frontier northeast of Lake Ladoga.

These daily marches, on a schedule provided in connection with Tuesday's peace treaty, will continue until the newly-narrowed Finnish frontiers are crossed.

The entire Karelian isthmus and the area northeast of Lake Ladoga must be cleared by March 26. Withdrawal from other ceded areas north of Lieksa and in eastern Finland will begin at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Will Occupy Viipuri

The hollow shell of Viipuri, once the metropolis of the Karelian isthmus, will be one of the first places to be occupied by the Russians, for they already are in its outskirts and may move up tonight as soon as the Finns have put seven kilometers between

Hopkins Offers Way To Answer Census Queries on Incomes

Washington, March 15 (AP)—The nation's millions were given a choice by Secretary Hopkins today on how to answer those much-discussed census questions on 1939 incomes.

Those who have no objections may supply the information directly to the enumerator.

Persons desiring absolute secrecy may obtain a blank form from the enumerator, answer the questions without signing their names, and seal them in a franked envelope to be mailed to Washington.

Hopkins described the alternate answer-by-mail-without-signature method in a statement which insisted that the income questions were essential. The alternate method was being made available, he said, in deference to congressional and other objections.

Flood Threats Fail To Materialize as Result of Rainfall

Water Rises Behind Ice Jams at Rosendale, but No Fears Held; Snow in Mountains

Sweeps State

Central and Western Part of State Crippled by Snow, Rain

Thawing weather and rain last night and today stirred some fear of possible floods in various parts of the county but up until today no serious flood threats were reported.

Ice jams in the Rondout creek at Rosendale and at other points along that stream represented the most serious condition reported in this region but no immediate fear of floods was felt in that village, nor at other points along the Rondout.

Reports from other parts of the county indicate similar conditions with the rain and mild weather bringing a gradual rather than rapid rise to the various streams.

At Rosendale, however, it was reported that the water appeared to be rising behind ice jams at an estimated rate of a foot an hour. Ice jammed by the upper bridge in the village near Kelder's hotel, at the narrows near the Wallkill Valley railroad bridge and near Vaughn's drug store, but just before noon the stream was far from flood crest.

Route 209 between Ellenville and Kingston was reported covered with water reaching a depth of two or more inches at Hurley, Stone Ridge and Wawarsing.

Snow in Mountains

Six inches of snow fell in the upper Catskill mountain region and the winter sports resorts were anticipating another big week-end. At Phoenicia it was reported the ski slopes were in splendid condition and the tow would operate tomorrow and Sunday. Snow trains were expected to bring several hundred people to the area.

While in Kingston rain fell during the night, it turned to snow early this morning but a bright sun later turned the snow to slush.

New York city was again made jubilant with from 1.20 inches of rain to 2.26 inches at various points on the watershed.

While the upper Esopus creek was rising slightly this morning it was not expected there would be any flood conditions since snow had fallen in most of the upper Esopus valley. The Ashokan and Gilboa reservoirs, however, were receiving a considerable amount of water.

During the 24-hour period ending at 8 o'clock Thursday morning the two reservoirs had lost 370,000,000 gallons through withdrawals while during the past 24 hours the loss had been reduced to 33,000,000 gallons indicating that the inflow was on the increase approximately 340,000,000 in 24 hours.

Rainfall at Ashokan for the past 24 hours ending at 8 o'clock today had been 1.52 inches. At Schoharie the rainfall had been 0.96 inches, mostly rain and sleet. At Elka Park there had been 2.26 inches of rain, mostly rain and snow. The snow fall at Westkill an equivalent of 1.36 inches of rain had fallen, mostly snow and sleet. The rainfall at Windham was 1.20 inches.

The storm deposited approximately 6 inches of snow through the upper Catskill region and at Boiceville there was less snow and more rain. From Boiceville to Kingston the storm was mostly rain, with some snow later during the night.

At Lackawack it was reported

About 2,500 school editors and writers, here from every state, are attending the convention. They are busy visiting publishing plants and attending meeting at which prominent journalists are speakers. Awards of medals and ribbons to the winners among the 1,085 publications in the competition, will be made Saturday at a luncheon at the Hotel Commodore. The winners will be on display at Columbia.

Great Britain Brings 3 New Economic Acts Into Play to Meet Tri-Power Trade Threat

They Cast Their Votes Early

Heavy rain last night limited the usually large attendance at the annual "Spring Opening" and unveiling of store windows in the uptown business district. Among the few who put on their rubbers and took the umbrella from the rack and braved the storm were Alderman-at-Large and Mrs. John J. Schwenk, shown above depositing their estimates of a window in the ballot box. According to a statement made this morning by Louis Weiner, president of the Uptown Business Men's Association, the contests for the closest estimate as to the value of merchandise displayed in the contest window and the grand prize of $25 for the person who submits the closest estimate as to the total retail value of all the windows entered in the contest, will be continued tonight.

Stoudt Is First On Police List as Result of Tests

Van Buren and Boss Stand Second and Third for Lieutenant's Post; Others Are Listed

Sergeant Fred C. Stoudt stands first on the eligible list for the position of lieutenant of the Kingston police department, and Officer William T. Roedel stands first on the eligible list for the position of police sergeant as a result of the civil service examinations held at the high school on Wednesday, March 6.

The marking of the examination papers was completed and all of the contestants notified of their standing on the lists by the civil service board last evening.

Only three of the four police sergeants took the examination for lieutenant. Sergeant Van Buren stands second on the eligible list with Sergeant Ernest A. Boss third.

The six standing highest on the sergeant's list are: William T. Roedel, William J. Leonard, Robert Murphy, Urban Healey, Howard Kinch and Clarence Brophy.

All of the contestants who took the promotion examinations passed, it was stated by the civil service board.

I. Stuart Williams is president of the civil service board. The other two members are Harvey C. Sammons and Dr. L. A. McCombridge. Harry S. Hutton is secretary.

The eligible lists will be forwarded to the police board. Since only one appointment is to be made of lieutenant and sergeant the civil service board will certify only the three names standing highest on the lists.

Chamberlain to Disclose Secret Assurances Made To Norway, Sweden, if They Tangled With Soviet

London, March 15 (AP)—The Daily Mail said today that Prime Minister Chamberlain would disclose secret assurances made two months ago to Norway and Sweden of allied support if, in giving help to Finland, they became involved in war with Soviet Russia or Germany.

The newspaper said Chamberlain would make the disclosure Tuesday in the House of Commons. The report of the Daily Mail's diplomatic correspondent followed a broadcast last night in which Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht laid refusal of a British request for permission to send troops through Scandinavia to knowledge that "this would have meant our countries would have been drawn into a great war."

Demanding a "positive policy" in the Balkans, the Daily Mail editorially declared that the allies

Rain Again Spoils Spring Opening, Contest Continues

For the second season the annual "Spring Opening" of the Uptown Business Men's Association was rained out when during the afternoon a cold spring rain began to fall but despite the bad weather many hardy souls braved the weather to visit the uptown business section to look over the spring window displays and enter their estimates in the value estimating contests.

Because of the bad weather last evening President Louis Weiner of the Uptown Business Association today stated that the contests would be continued today and the contest boxes will again be in place this evening for those who desire to enter their estimates as to the value of the contest windows.

In addition to the individual prizes being offered by individual

Gas Fumes Fell Truckman While Making Tire Change

Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning police headquarters received a telephone call from the By-Pass Diner on East Chester street that a truck driver had been overcome by carbon monoxide gas while under his truck at work changing a tire.

Officers Hess and Fitzgerald in one of the radio cars and the emergency crew of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation responded to the alarm.

They found that Chris Andrew Jensen of 164 Fifth avenue, Watervliet, employed by the Fort Nelson Express Company of Stillwater had parked his truck near the diner and was engaged in changing a tire.

In making the change it was necessary for him to crawl in under the truck near the exhaust pipe of the engine where he was overcome by the fumes.

Quick work on the part of the police and the Central Hudson crew revived him. He refused hospitalization, and later, after the necessary tire change had been made continued his trip.

Tightens Nation's Hold on Foreign Exchange, Organizes Resources, Sells Securities

Reports Coincide

Acts Tally With Reports That von Ribbentrop Has Suggested Bloc

London, March 15 (AP)—Great Britain brought three new weapons into her economic front line today to meet the threat of a German-Russian-Italian bloc aimed at capturing her trade.

Her effort was intended to fortify the British position in the economic struggle by increasing her reserves of foreign exchange for purchases of war supplies, mobilizing the resources of the British and French overseas empires and driving German securities from British money markets.

These measures coincided with reports in Belgrade that Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany had suggested to Italy formation of a German-Italian-Russian economic bloc with "all small states between these powers." As reported in Belgrade, von Ribbentrop's proposal to the Italian government would put Europe's small Baltic, central and south-eastern states in the economic orbit of the three totalitarian powers, with whom some already do most of their trading.

Officials Skeptical

Yugoslav officials, although impressed by Rome-Berlin axis economic collaboration, were skeptical, however, that Italy would consider taking Russia into partnership.

As Britain pulled in her belt another notch, the Times of London forecast the likelihood of further sacrifices, emphasizing the need of "diverting from civilian consumption something like half of the whole current production in order to devote it to winning the war."

It warned also of a "real danger that we may drift into inflation" should the government delay a decision whether to finance the war by voluntary or compulsory saving.

These were the three new British measures: To tighten its hold on foreign exchange, the government banned private importation of canned and bottled fruits, beginning next Tuesday.

Only the ministry of food will be permitted to buy these products abroad but the effect on British supplies is not expected to be felt immediately since large stocks have been accumulated recently. Fruit juices, jam and marmalade are exempt.

Chief Provider

The United States has been Britain's chief provider of canned and bottled fruits, principally peaches, pears, apricots, grapes, fruit salad. In 1933 more than $14,000,000 worth was imported from the United States.

To organize British-French colonial cooperation in order to utilize all of both empires' resources for the war effort, it was learned, Malcolm MacDonald, colonial secretary, will confer in Paris soon with Georges Mandel, French minister of colonies.

Besides production, their discussions are expected to include intra-colonial trade, transport, broadcasting, aviation and foreign currency restrictions.

Colonial collaboration, it was believed, will supplement the economic resources and will make the colonies largely self-supporting.

Large-scale selling in Britain of securities, chiefly negotiable bonds on behalf of German interests, was disclosed in a stock exchange warning to members to "exercise greatest caution in accepting and executing orders, the real source of which they are not able to verify beyond all reasonable doubt."

Such sales are subject both to stock exchange disciplinary action and stringent penalties under the law forbidding trading with the enemy.

The authoritative financial Times pointed out that delivery of a "tainted" security passes no title to the purchaser and that "the seller thus is at the risk of having to make a second delivery if, as the result of an enemy interest, the securities comprised in the first delivery are claimed by the custodian of enemy property."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, March 15 (AP)—The position of the treasury March 13: Receipts, $24,323,020.10; expenditures, $21,897,708.32; net balance, $2,330,903,717.15; working balance included $1,613,837,981.56; customs receipts for month, $13,240,541.81; receipts for fiscal year (July 1), $3,750,014,276.89; expenditures, $6,468,536,742.74; excess of expenditures, $2,718,522,465.85; gross debt, $42,404,231,293.17; increase over previous day, $6,447,244.18; gold assets, $18,281,375,523.28.

A leading cattle man of the Argentine who is also familiar with the beef industry of the United States points out a striking contrast between the two systems. In the United States great numbers of feeder cattle are bred on large properties on the western ranges and are finished for market in relatively small lots on individual farms in the Corn Belt.

Financial and Commercial

Stock Averages Dropped Thursday

Although several signs of improving business were found in the news yesterday two important indices were on the unfavorable side. Barron's index of the physical volume of business for the week ended March 9 showed a further drop, standing at 79.5 per cent of normal as against 81.2 the previous week. It is a net decline of 14.3 points from the December high, but still well ahead of last year this time, when it stood at 72.7. Carloadings also declined 13,413 cars from the previous week, the total being 620,997 cars. A year ago total loadings for the week were 588,426.

More favorable news is found in reports of sharply increased copper sales and increase in earnings, a rise in retail sales generally and increase in income tax returns.

Earnings of the leading domestic copper companies for the first quarter of this year will be sharply above the first quarter of 1939 and will probably top the final quarter of last year. Sales to domestic users so far this year have totaled 183,522 tons as against 64,090 tons in the entire three months last year. In origin export business in U. S. origin copper has been sharply increased.

Consumer buying is reported to have picked up sharply throughout the country during the past several days and the improvement is said to be more or less general, brightening the outlook for spring retail trade. The gain in business was first experienced by department stores toward the close of last week and the improvement has continued. Chain and food units are also improving.

In order to meet needs of expanding business Montgomery Ward is expected to announce in the near future intention to raise additional capital. Indications are that the company will offer common stock to raise at least $10,000,000, with present stockholders being given the right to subscribe. Rapid growth of the company's credit sales is a factor in the need for more capital.

Private construction awards this week were 16 per cent below a year ago, while public construction was off one per cent.

All stock averages, as measured in the Dow-Jones lists, closed with losses Thursday. Industrials declined 21 points to 148.11, which was below the best level of the day. Ralls lost .15, to 30.52 and utilities lost .01, to 24.14. Volume was 660,000 shares.

Commodities were irregular, with the index up slightly for the day. Cotton rallied in late trading and futures showed gains of six to 17 points. Wheat was slightly higher in nervous trading, closing up ¼, to ½ cent a bushel. Coffee, hides and silk showed rises, while rubber, sugar and wool tops declined.

Finland is reported to have placed sizable truck orders in this country. Ford is believed to have sold 4,500 trucks, with the order not affected by the peace settlement.

Net of Lockheed Aircraft for 1939 was $3,132,918, up $442,111 from previous year. Sales during the year showed a jump of 241 per cent.

Unlicensed Junk Dealers Given Suspended Sentences

Cornelius Struber and Howard Pihl, both of Binnewater, arrested yesterday by Trooper Arthur Reilly on a charge of buying and selling junk without a license, were given 30-day suspended sentences in the Ulster county jail, when arraigned before Justice Clyde L. Baxter last night.

Struber also pleaded guilty to being an unlicensed automobile operator and Pihl admitted driving without adequate brakes. The men were fined $5 each on the motor vehicle violations.

This morning that the Esopus was rising. In the vicinity of Ellenville there was little snow but considerable rain throughout the night.

Pre-Spring Storm Sweeps State

Albany, N. Y., March 15 (AP)—A pre-spring storm swept New York state today, leaving in its wake moisture-laden snow as deep as 18 inches, crippled communications, fallen trees and ice-covered highways.

Utilities workers fought to replace power and telephone lines torn down by ice and snow-laden branches. Telephone service to and from Ogdensburg was restored partially after being completely disrupted throughout the night and morning.

The storm was described as the worst of the year at Ogdensburg, where 18 inches of heavy wet snow fell, slowing traffic and clogging all side roads. All main highways were open, but driving was hazardous.

Eight inches in Rome followed a four-hour freezing rain which fell, ed hundreds of trees, snapped power and telephone lines and blocked streets.

Temperatures Rise
Temperatures rose slightly after overnight minimums ranging in the twenties.

State police at Albany cautioned against travel, asserting nearly all roads in the state were slippery and snow-covered. Visibility was poor.

Ithaca reported 9½ inches of snow, Hornell, 5; Saranac Lake, 6; Binghamton, 7; Corning, 4; Glens Falls, 4; Batavia, 2; Rochester, 4½ and Malone, 8.

In Buffalo, 30 sand and gravel crews worked on ice-glazed streets, the city police reporting numerous traffic tie-ups on ordinarily easy grades.

Automobiles slid into ditches on Jamestown's streets, causing many minor accidents.

Rain turned to snow in Oneonta and Albany, where a 33-mile an hour wind in the morning added to pedestrian and motorist discomfort.

Snowplows cleared highways of five-foot drifts swept up by a 40-mile-an-hour wind which virtually

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

Detailed Ground Plan Necessary Before You Plant Anything

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

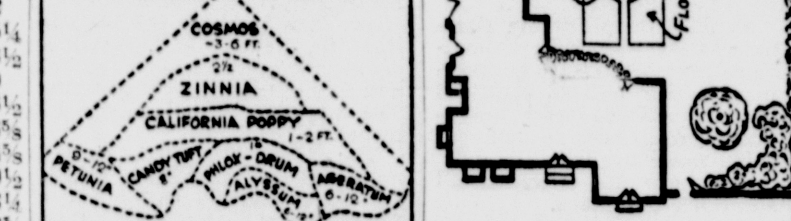

(P) Feature Service Writer

More than half of the hard work connected with a garden is in planning it.

Many people, especially city dwellers, haven't much choice about the size, location or quality of the land they will use. But, fortunately, almost any soil can be made suitable for gardening by the addition of organic matter and plant food.

After selecting your site, make a scale drawing of it. Then hold a family conference and decide on what to plant—vegetables, flowers or both.

Americans are getting more and more to be outdoor enthusiasts.

Guide for mass planting, with short-stem flowers in front, taller ones in rear.

and the "outdoor living room" is becoming a part of many new homes.

This innovation doesn't require a lot of space, but it does call for careful planning. If you have one it should contain some of these features: A pool, a shady nook, a rock garden, a bird bath or sundial, an oven for barbecues or picnics and a mass of well planned flowers and shrubs for background.

In general, remember that beds of flowers allow depth, massing of color and color contrasts. Borders are for hillsides, terraces, rock walls, fences, paths and around foundations of buildings. Color harmony is desirable. Flowers are grown to be seen and so the small one should be in front, mediums in the middle and tall ones in back.

Whatever your plans, be sure every detail is worked out on paper before digging a spade into the soil.

Mrs. Helen Brown Found Dead in New York Apartment

New York, March 15 (AP)—A woman described by police as Helen Brown, about 28, was found dead of illuminating gas poisoning today in the kitchen of her well-furnished apartment near lower Fifth avenue.

Her body, fully clothed, was found slumped in a chair near a card table. Three jets of the stove were open. Music was coming from a small radio in the apartment.

No note was found, but police found papers indicating that her mother, Mrs. Jane Conlin, lives at (214 Flatbush avenue) Kingston, N. Y. They were told that the young woman had been under a physician's care.

Colors of the Rainbow

The colors of the rainbow are red, orange, yellow, green, blue and violet, but the colors of individual rainbows may vary. Red and violet can nearly always be distinguished and greens, blues and yellows may all be present. There is, however, much mixing of colors because the rainbow is not a single spectrum but a series of overlapping spectra.

Heating With Sun Rays

A small cottage may supply the knowledge necessary to reduce the costs of power, heat and air conditioning by use of the sun's rays, Massachusetts Institute of Technology scientists believe. Prof. H. C. Hotel, director of the experiment, explained the workings of the "tag." On the roof is a small black, metal-lined box to absorb solar heat. A series of metal tubes is heated by the box and in turn heats water circulated through the tubes. Several glass covers on the box allow the sun's rays to pass to the metal lining—and at the same time imprison most of the heat generated. When the water has been heated by the "heat collector" it passes through carefully insulated pipes to a basement storage tank. There—depending on the size of the tank—water can be kept hot for periods of a few weeks to half a year. A flow of air around or through the tank would supply heat for the house—or by using the heat for power, could operate an air conditioning plant.

How Long—?

Frankfurt Am Main, Germany. (AP)—War blackouts are an old story in Germany—more than 400 years old. An order of the city authorities, dated 1519, was found recently in the city archives. The order directed inhabitants to darken windows in the upper stories of their homes because of the threatening danger of war. The city fathers said that this step would make it very difficult for an approaching enemy to find the city.

Flisser Nominated Railroad Company As Exalted Ruler To Resume Former Trucking Service

SYDNEY FLISSER

At a meeting of Kingston Lodge, No. 550, B. P. O. E., held Thursday evening and attended by some 150 members, Sydney Flisser of Fleischmanns was nominated for the office of Exalted Ruler for the ensuing year.

In nominating Mr. Flisser, who succeeds William H. Rothery, P. E. R., Charles Ryan extolled the newly designated exalted ruler as an Elk who never let distance or weather deter him from active participation in the affairs of Elkdom. Mr. Flisser is widely known in the business and social affairs of Ulster and Greene counties. He is a member of the Shriners, the American Legion and the Kingston Lions Club. Under his leadership the local lodge of Elks is assured of active, virile and progressive leadership during the next year.

Other officers nominated are: Vincent G. Connelly, esteemed leading knight; Louis G. Bruhn, esteemed loyal knight; William Edelmuth, secretary; Thomas Kennedy, treasurer; Dr. Joseph H. Rosenberg, trustee for three years; Richard Obenaus, tiler.

The only contested office is that of esteemed lecturing knight. Candidates are Frank Greco, present esquire; Dr. Robert Ploss, present inner guard; and Isaac Troybridge, present member of the important house committee. Balloting for the contested office will take place at the meeting on Thursday, March 28.

Will Hold Meeting

A special meeting of St. Mary's Holy Name Society committee for the coming dance will be held this evening at 8:30 o'clock, following the services at the church. It is important that every member be present.

A service abandoned about two years ago will be resumed by the New York Central Railroad at the local freight house, it was announced today by J. A. Simpson, agent.

The service known as the "store-door" delivery and pick-up service will be effective March 25 and the arrangement includes a deduction of five cents a hundred for those who use their own trucks.

This means that a general allowance for picking up and delivering freight will be taken care of by the railroad company, regardless of whether the customer uses his own truck or one provided by the company.

Schoonmaker Sees Better Farm Year

The outlook for the 1940 growing season in this section is better than a year ago, according to John L. Schoonmaker of Accord, vice president of the Middletown Production Credit Association, in a report to officers and directors of six rural credit associations from New Jersey and the Hudson Valley, who met early this week at Springfield, Mass.

"Dairymen had a fairly successful season, and most of them look forward to a good year," Mr. Schoonmaker said. "Some are reducing their acreage of vegetables and field crops to grow more hay. The attitude of most farmers is a conservative one, with careful thought to production costs." In this connection he emphasized the need for farmers to buy their credit carefully and thus to keep under control that factor in their costs.

Credit associations represented at the Springfield conference include those at Middletown and Poughkeepsie in New York, with associations from Morristown, New Brunswick, Moorestown and Bridgeton in New Jersey.

In addition to Mr. Schoonmaker, the association was represented by Charles L. Boyd of Middletown and W. Harrison Wheeler of Florida, N. Y. The Middletown association operates as a rural credit cooperative in Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster counties. Its membership includes some 550 farmers to whom it provided short-term credit amounting to $475,000 during the past year.

HOME TAXATION

Every American home is beginning to feel the weight of the tremendous load being placed upon it by heavy and continued governmental spending. It could not be otherwise, since the burden has grown so rapidly in the past seven years as to be easily noticed. Every time a person turns around, there is a tax to pay.

To get a better idea of the growth of governmental spending and the resultant growth of taxation, economists have translated the meaningless monster figures to which annual taxation and expenditures have climbed into per person averages that give a much more clear picture of what has happened under the New Deal.

In 1933, the per capita spending of government was $90 for every man, woman and child in the United States. In 1939 it jumped to $145 for every man, woman and child—the highest per capita expenditure per year in the history of the country.

That is a difference of $55 per person in every family in the land. In other words a family of five had $275 less to spend for food, clothing and shelter in 1939 than they did in 1933. The sum of $275, as any family man knows, will buy a lot of wonderful things for those in the little family circle. But the $275 went for the support of government.

LIMITED ALIMONY

What its sponsor calls the "too-many-husbands bill," and what others call the "gold-digging bill," has been introduced in the New York Legislature. Its purpose is to keep "women racketeers" from asking alimony from more than one divorced husband. Alimony may be asked from the first one but not from any that may follow. The bill's author believes it will reduce the number of divorces by ending the financial inducement to marry with ultimate alimony in mind.

Some special legislation of the sort seems to be in order. Alimony is often a just and necessary thing, but it is sometimes asked in exorbitant amounts for selfish reasons. Perhaps opportunities in this line should be limited.

PRINTING, USEFUL AND OTHERWISE

The art of printing, whose 500th anniversary is being celebrated this year, is not an unmixed good. An American clergyman observes that while printing has served in a general way to enlighten and free the human mind, it is being used today on a vast scale to enslave the mind.

This obviously is the case in dictatorship countries. The "burning of the books" in Berlin when Hitler came to power is a striking example. There, as in Russia, censorship forbids the printing of whatever the masters of the state do not approve. At the same time they are obliged to read what their masters command. This is true not merely of political matters but of many other things.

There is propaganda here, too, but it is not compulsory reading. Moreover, there is always counter-propaganda on controversial matters. It is the glory of American life and institutions that we have more literary freedom, and do more reading, than ever has been done anywhere else in the world.

Some of it, sad to say, is pretty poor stuff. Yet the best that mankind has ever produced anywhere is available cheaply in our newspapers and magazines and free in our public libraries.

CAMPAIGN STYLE

This is a year of oratory. The orators are just warming up for the work. And as they do so, the public is getting some very fancy campaign speeches. There are many good speakers, and many not so good, and there is going to be a deluge of elocution and doctrine.

At this critical moment along comes Mayor La Guardia of New York, himself one of the ablest campaigners in American politics, with a little professional criticism.

"If a man is a candidate," he says, "apparently he can't be specific." And "You can't feed people on epigrams, no matter how snappy they are."

It would be a grand campaign if candidates and their oratorical friends would give their listeners facts instead of generalities and logic instead of wise-cracks.

To be fair about it, once in a while one of them things women call their hats does suggest some sort of distant relationship to their heads.

These interstate tariffs attain the height of absurdity and annoyance when a fellow isn't allowed to "import" from another state cigarettes bought for his own use.

More trouble in higher education. Freshmen at the University of Pittsburgh kick about getting only fifty cents an hour for odd jobs when athletes with priority status get ninety cents.

You will remember Shakespeare inferred that Cassius was untrustworthy because he had a lean and hungry look. Probably Cassius was just another taxpayer.

If Great Britain is going to continue to read our mails on the high seas maybe we could make it easier for her by sending out nothing but postcards.

A lot of fellows who back in the horse and buggy days studied the financial page of their daily newspaper now are contented to look only at the help wanted column.

There ought to be commuting facilities for Little America, so people could go down there during the campaign to cool off.

About the only piece of exploring left now is to find out what's on the other side of the moon.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
 CHILDHOOD DISEASES

A physician friend of mine once confided the following to me: "I wish we had lived in a poor and more thickly populated section of the city when my youngsters were small; they would have had all the childhood diseases—measles, scarlet fever, chickenpox, whooping cough—and have become immune (free from) to practically all ailments now they are grown."

I do not think many parents would choose this method of "strengthening" their children because the complications from these childhood ailments might have resulted in hard of hearing, heart disease, and even death.

There is, however, a way of protecting children from many of these diseases. It is called the "immunization" of the children.

In an article by Prof. C. S. Raue, M.D., Philadelphia, as guest editor of the Medical World, in speaking of the immunization against the common contagious diseases of childhood, it is said:

"The earliest immunization procedure is vaccination against small pox. The best time to vaccinate an infant is between the third and sixth month. At this age complications are less likely to occur and there is little or no danger of brain inflammation following vaccination."

After the infant is six months old, there should be immunization against whooping cough. It is claimed that 80 per cent of children receiving Sauer whooping cough vaccine will, two to three months after vaccination, be immune for several years.

Nine months is the age to immunize against diphtheria. The horror of diphtheria is almost unknown to young parents today.

The advisability of immunizing against scarlet fever is not fully endorsed by the medical profession; it is left to the physician's judgment in each case.

"There is no vaccine for obtaining permanent immunity against measles, but a child exposed to measles may be protected by an injection of placental globulin."

Unfortunately there is no preventive measure that can be used during an epidemic of infantile paralysis."

The above information from a professor of children's diseases should help parents as they discuss their child's health with their family physician.

The Common Cold

The common cold receives very little attention and yet it may prove most dangerous, leading to pneumonia in many cases. Send for Dr. Barton's booklet on this ailment 'The Common Cold' (No. 104), today. Address your request to The Bell Library, Post Office Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y., enclosing ten cents to cover cost of handling and mailing and mention the Kingston Daily Freeman.

Basel, Switzerland. (P.)—Switzerland's first group of women soldiers, 350 strong, called up to drive trucks in the army medical services, began their first month of training at Basel recently with an order on the first day stating, "You're in the army now." "Leave lipsticks and powder boxes at home," said the order. "Bring scrub brushes instead."

The women wear regular army uniforms save for long loose "civilian style" trousers instead of putties. They are trained in carrying stretcher cases under fire, as well as in driving ambulances and first aid trucks.

HOLDING COMPANIES ON SPOT AGAIN

Babson Says Utility Men Scared To Death

Winter Park, Fla., March 15—

The S. E. C.'s recent move in asking several public utility holding companies to file their plans to comply with the Holding Company Act may be just a warning shot. But whatever its purposes, its only effect on the industry has been (1) a loss of $250,000,000 in security values, (2) less ability to cooperate on national defense, and (3) curbing new expansion that could provide 100,000 jobs.

The industry, which had been slowly regaining the confidence of investors, has been plunged once more into a morass of uncertainty and confusion.

In any industry that faces uncertainty and change, investors always become over-excited. The present situation among holding companies is an excellent illustration. In my opinion the utility business is not on the way out—it is on the way back! Despite unsettledness, I urge investors not to unload good utility securities now. They are already selling at distress values. Remember, the recent S. E. C. move was fully discussed five years ago when the Holding Company Act was passed.

Unscrambling the Scramble

But investors are not the only ones who are scared. The utility men themselves are trying to unscramble the nation's most complicated scramble. According to a strict interpretation of the so-called "death sentence," most of the larger holding companies would have to make radical changes in their operating systems.

A holding company, for instance, which owns operating companies in Arizona, Montana, Florida, and Ohio would have to give up most of them. The original idea was that the Arizona properties of this concern could be swapped for the Ohio properties of some other holding company which wanted to keep its Arizona company.

This early idea, however, is not working well. The amount of swapping that can be done among the big holding companies affected is questionable. Instead, utility officials believe that if the S. E. C. insists on the "death sentence," holding companies may be forced to offer some of the common stocks of their operating companies for sale. The funds secured from such a sale would then be used to pay off the bonds of the holding companies. If any money were left, the holding company preferred would be called and paid off. Then, if any money still remained, something could be paid on the holding company common stocks.

All Securities Distressed

Utility officials, however, believe that the market might become so glutted with common stocks of operating companies that the second program would not work either. In some states and some localities, operating company stock offerings might go over satisfactorily. In others, the new issues might go for a song. Moreover, these officials believe that the prices of operating company securities already in the hands of the public would suffer drastic declines. These officials believe that so many of the newly disgorged securities would be coming on the market, at sacrifice prices, that the whole market would be depressed.

Cracking down with the "death sentence" could cost the owners of utility securities billions of dollars. The mere mention of it has already slashed security values a quarter of a billion dollars! And who owns these securities—America's "sixty" families? No! The majority of these securities belong to the owners of 12,000,000 savings accounts, holders of 60,000,000 life insurance policies, to hospitals, colleges, libraries, charitable organizations, and ordinary individuals. This is such a broad cross-section of the American public that it is fair to say that the average citizen is the one whose security values would suffer if the axe fell.

No Major Savings

I can foresee no important saving to the public in carrying out the "death sentence." Electric rates may be cut slightly, but I do not see any possibility of substantial reductions which could not be made, program or no program. There may be some further economies in operations that are not possible under today's set-up—but no major savings. To go through with the contemplated program seems to me to be unnecessary, unfair, and uneconomical. Of course, what the S. E. C. is doing is nothing more than it is required to do under the provisions of the Act.

What effect would the strict execution of this harsh law have on the electric customers? Their service would suffer and financing would certainly be more difficult. The industry right now should spend billions on new plant and equipment. These projects would provide thousands of new jobs. But can you blame any company for stalling off new expansion projects while its life or death status is being debated? The day that the unscrambling process begins, cross the utility industry off your list as one of the potential leaders of the next construction boom!

Rates Down 40 Per Cent

Ten years ago many holding companies were a hard lot to security-minded, haughty, domineering. Today, they have quit the rough stuff. Their management have been steadily strengthened. Their depreciation charges have been increased. They have consistently cut rates until the average kWh. of electricity costs less than four cents against six and a half cents in 1929. On top of all this, they have become the country's biggest and best tax payers. Out of every dollar they collect from their customers, they turn 16 cents over to the public tax coffers. The clean-up job is done. Carrying through with the "death sentence" will hurt customers, workers, managers, investors—and will help no one!

Curious Parallel Between Defenders of Wagner Act and Those Who Battled for 18th Amendment and Volstead Act
 By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 15—There's a curious parallel between the way the defenders of the Wagner Labor Act, including Senator Wagner himself, are behaving and the way the defenders of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act refused to give ground to the opposition after a case had been made out, showing that, in some instances, the evils bred under prohibition were far worse than the ills sought to be cured by enforced temperance.

Senator Wagner of New York, as the author of the law which bears his name, has declared in Senate speech that he does not favor the amendments sponsored by the special House investigating committee headed by Representative Smith of Virginia, Democrat.

One by one Mr. Wagner assails these proposals including those which simply attempt to put into the statute what the Supreme Court of the United States in two important cases has proclaimed to be the basic constitutional doctrine of labor relations.

The Supreme court has said that "sit-down" strikers need not be re-employed, but when an amendment is proposed to give statutory effect to such a declaration, Senator Wagner takes his position alongside of the "sit-down" strikers and the promoters of physical violence as a means of settling labor disputes.

The Supreme court said that employers could not be compelled to make a contract in a collective bargaining negotiation, but the labor board has twisted the words of the preamble of the labor law to compel an employer to accept some of the employee's demands even if he cannot afford them and the penalty today is an enforcement order of the labor board.

Again although the record of the Smith committee has shown flagrant maladministration, indeed a betrayal of justice and collusion with litigants, to say nothing of violation of federal laws, the New York senator does not utter a single word of condemnation of the men who were responsible for this abuse of power.

The intolerance of the majority when in power and its complete disregard of the minority viewpoint, which is really at the heart of the controversy over Wagner Act amendments, merely means that ultimately collective bargaining will be severely restricted in America, when collective bargaining, as in some instances now, the employers submit only to the point where they can no longer carry on their businesses and then they head for the bankruptcy courts.

The small businesses of America are today being hurt by abuse of the collective bargaining power. The large businesses can afford to meet the demands of the organized groups or to fight them because they have a large volume of business and big profits. The small businesses are intimidated and forced into acceptance of demands they cannot economically afford.

Little by little these facts will come home to the people just as the drys refused to concede that bootlegging was a social evil and public opinion at last turned from the drys. The professional drys had a majority in Congress for a long time. They would not consent to any change which would bring back even light wines and beer so in the end their attitude forced the repeal of the entire prohibition amendment.

Failure to adjust points of view on controversial legislation at the opportune moment merely means, in the long run, more and more resentment and an accumulation of bitterness that causes a national reaction. Wherever pressure groups overreach themselves they usually pay a much more severe penalty in the end. Senator Wagner has apparently decided to take his stand on the side of the men who have maltreated the law of which he is author. He refuses to concede, moreover, that there is anything fundamentally wrong with a statute which has been revealed by a House committee investigation to have been administered by men who were zealots and not judges.

Senator Wagner raises the old, old cry that the proposed amendments "weaken" the act and would aid the forces of unionism. This is like the old argument of the drys that the foes of prohibition were primarily the liquor interests, hence no change should be made.

The attempt now also is to belittle the evidence before the House committee. But unlike any other investigation in years, the incriminating evidence was taken out of the files of the accused—the labor board itself. The two majority board members who interpreted the law in this manner, writing into it penalties they invented and words that they admitted were not in the law when Congress wrote it, are now being defended by Senator Wagner as well as by the CIO.

Memories of Representative Volstead who, too, was the author of a great law that bore his name, come back faintly today. Will the same be said some day of the law which bears the name of Senator Wagner when repeal comes and a really fair labor relations law is put in its place? The New York Senator is an able man and a conscientious public servant, but he has a blind spot on employers' problems, especially small businesses. Failure to see this object is today being hurt by abuse of the collective bargaining power. The large businesses can afford to meet the demands of the organized groups or to fight them because they have a large volume of business and big profits. The small businesses are intimidated and forced into acceptance of demands they cannot economically afford.

ly Explorer's Route Is Traced by Experts

A party of historical experts, using a specially constructed, high-automobile, is traveling across northern Mexico to find the place where Francisco Vasquez de Coronado first set foot on American soil 400 years ago.

The site, when found, will mark spot where a $10,000 Coronado memorial will be constructed by the United States Centennial commission, which is financing the trip. One, not even members of the expedition, cared to predict how long investigation might require. The route is over nearly impassable trails and unmarked deserts. In some spots pack mules will be used.

Members of the Coronado memorial decided to erect the Coronado memorial on the United States-Mexico boundary, but complications arose when they tried to find the spot. Residents of Douglas, Ariz., believed Coronado and his conquistadors journeyed up the San Pedro river, through Douglas, while citizens of Nogales assert the explorer went through their Santa Cruz river. The cities are about 75 miles apart, both on the international boundary.

Following the trail blazed by breeders, sugar-beet specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture are attempting to utilize first-generation hygienic in the leaf-spot-resistant, beet variety recently introduced for planting in eastern beet-growing districts as well as for the irrigated districts of the Rocky Mountains.

Highland P.T.A.

Highland, March 14 — The Parent-Teacher Association Monday heard George Roett, an engineer for the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company talk of Safety First. Mr. Roett used a chart to illustrate points of his talk.

The members voted to continue the giving of prizes to graduates in June. The sum of $2.50 is given a boy and a girl in the two eighth grade rooms for scholarship. In high school the pupil with the highest marks in English and History will be given $5 for each.

The Parent-Teacher magazine was ordered for another year for the public library.

Miss Marie Van Wormer said that of the number of tickets sent the Association to be sold for the Mikado there was only enough sold to net $1.60. It was then voted to make that sum up to $5, by taking money from the treasury. Another dollar was voted toward the price of the birthday cake ordered last month for the Founder's Day program, and which was not used on the Homemaking room for lunches. The meeting at that time was not held because of a storm.

The president, Mrs. Francis Gaffney, Jr., conducted the meeting after an absence of several months and was given a welcome. The program on Safety was in charge of Mrs. Mears and Arthur Poelma who concluded the evening by showing a reel of pictures depicting the harm arising of a child using his father's gun.

The question of Mother's clubs formed by the mothers of pupils in the grade rooms, was suggested by Mrs. John J. Gaffney. This has the advantage of bringing the mothers in closer contact with the teacher and conditions in the classroom. The secretary was to write to the P.T.A. headquarters for further information.

Magic Bullet Is Film Masterpiece

Of "Dr. Ehrlich's Magic Bullet," which the Broadway Theatre previews tonight, The Nation in its issue of March 9 says in part:

"With 'Dr. Ehrlich's Magic Bullet' Hollywood takes a great step forward. The picture is in theme and presentation so mature that it provides a deep and exciting experience. It surpasses the films of the biographical genre that we have seen before in every respect. Here are no cheap melodramatics but instead great emotions and spiritual processes presented with power and suspense."

"The result appeals simultaneously to heart and intelligence, and is as fascinating as life itself. The picture really lets one take part in one of the momentous fights of science against disease and of a great man against the limitations of his fellow-men."

"Edward G. Robinson as Dr. Ehrlich is not only better than he has ever been before, but he gives one of the greatest performances ever seen on the screen. There is not one false touch in his moving characterization. The actor builds a character by means of many little unobtrusive details."

The supporting cast contains many first-class players. Among them is Albert Bassermann, considered by many critics the greatest living actor. His Dr. Koch is, as was to be expected, a masterpiece of imaginative acting.

"Dr. Ehrlich's Magic Bullet" remains at the Broadway through Tuesday.

When the Sweet Young Thing seats herself in the smoking compartment of a train, crosses her legs, extracts a cigarette and a match from her smart bag, takes a long pull at the cigarette, inhales it and ejects two streams of smoke from her little nostrils, we are convinced that the inequality of the sexes has gone forever haywire.

LEAP BEFORE YOU LOOK

By Peggy O'More

YESTERDAY: it is Tom's birthday. Wondering why the farm is deserted, Tom learns that everyone is in court where the Tolands are contesting the will. She arrives in town just as the Major goes on the stand.

Chapter 16

'Mental Incompetency'

A HOOT went up from the jury at the Major's statement that Tom conducted a lemonade stand at the age of eleven. The bailiff rapped for order. The Judge rapped for order. Bartell's face went into his hands and Doty's shoulders shook.

Bartell arose, his cheeks scarlet. "Your honor, the incident is completely irrelevant except that it shows an inclination for business at that early age."

"Proceed with your witness, Mr. Toland, and kindly ask him to keep to more pertinent testimony," ordered the Judge.

"Proceed, John," murmured Austin, wiping his glasses furiously, "and keep to incidents of late dates."

"Very well," agreed the Major in an injured tone. "But that did show that she did not revere other people's property. I always had lemon and claret before retiring."

The Major continued, and as he talked, Tom's head dropped lower and lower.

There was the time she had given the Major's second best overcoat to a man who was looking for work and needed something to cover his shabby suit.

The time Great-aunt Hannah had outfitted her for the school semester, then allowed her to visit a Toland in Cleveland, only to have her return in slip and sports coat. The clothes of the little girl down the block had been destroyed by fire.

On he went until Bartell jumped up. "Your Honor, this only proves conclusively the warm, generous heart of Miss Toland, and it is not Miss Toland who needs defense. This is a contest of Timothy Toland's last will and testament. My worthy opponents are basing their contest upon the mental incompetency, avowed, of the deceased, by attempting to show he would not have left the property to one equally incompetent. So far the witness has not proven mental incompetency."

Major Toland stood up and, ignoring the Judge, roared, "It proves she has a soft brain as well as a soft heart. She'll let any fellow with a hard luck story work her out of this money. Timothy knew that, and that is why he sent you, with your good looks, to destroy any Toland participation in his estate."

Above the Major's voice came the rambling sound of the gavel and the Judge's voice, "Austin Toland, if you cannot restrain this witness I will call officers who can!"

The Major was restrained. He was also dismissed.

Depositions of each member of the family were read, then Austin sighed wearily that he would "rest."

"Your Honor—" Bartell was up again, his charm reflected in the faces of the jury, in the relaxation of the Judge. "I will, though it is not necessary, prove the efficiency of the young lady. I will call to the stand the persons she, of her own volition, has hired to carry out this project. And I will admit here that I fought her each time. I hadn't her vision."

"Her executive ability is shown by her insistence upon hiring the best rancunculist obtainable. I can take you to the farm and by exhibiting photographs of it as it was prior to her assuming temporary charge, two months ago, show the improvements she has made within that short time. I will prove that by making Miss Tom Toland his heir, the late Timothy Toland established his mental competency."

Presentation of the witnesses was deferred until the afternoon session and a recess called. Tom was first out of the courtroom, scurrying through the corridors to the haven of her cell. As swiftly as noon traffic would allow, she drove home, to hear the telephone ringing as she hurried up the steps.

"Go on and ring," she spat at the instrument. You folks thought you'd be through testifying and back here, by noon, didn't you? You'd have been ready with explanations of shopping, or something. Well, you're going to have a nice time explaining this evening."

Heartrending Sobs

AND because she had been trained by Great-aunt Hannah, she removed her suit, hung it up carefully, and donned a robe before throwing herself on the chaise longue to cry.

The Major had used that childish story to turn a jury against her. "And I only tried to make money because I heard Augusta say she couldn't have a new suit because of the expense of a child."

Tom sat up and mopped at her eyes and nose. "Why couldn't they ever understand? And why don't they want me to have this place when they don't need it?"

And neither the Major nor Austin had come to see her. They hadn't even telephoned.

Allen had sounded nice, but as Doty had said, he could turn his charm on and off as it suited him. It suited him to keep the will intact, or he would surely lose in the long run.

Had he been truly interested in her, he'd have had her called into court. "That's where I should have been," she cried indignantly. "Don't they realize that I am the one to be considered? Not that sheaf of papers with a red seal stamped over Great-uncle Timothy's signature."

So Alone

TOMI was debating whether to return him to the house and look him in, or suffer his violent attentions, when he thrust his black snout close to her, flopped down, and slept. The warm, damp little body was comforting. But even he belonged to Doty.

Tears stung Tom's eyes. "It's being so alone," she whispered. Little pictures of her childhood returned. First, Mimi, a wan, white shadow. Tomi couldn't remember her face, only her arms and her hands, clutching hands which tried to hold her from harm and want. Then that lonely period when there were no hands and there was want.

Julie came next in memory. Julie was Mimi's friend. She had fought to keep Tomi from the Tolands when they eventually traced her.

Tomi could remember Julie's words: "You said you did not recognize your brother's marriage to Mimi. Why then do you want this child?"

Tomi, it was explained, was half Toland.

As soon as she could speak English, she had asked, "Half Toland, I am? What does it mean?"

They couldn't explain satisfaction; nor why the same stigma was not attached to the other children, merely because the marriage of their parents had been sanctioned by the presiding matriarch.

"I don't care," thought Tomi, lying on her back and watching a squadron of army planes, maneuvering overhead. I am myself momentarily in wispy clouds gathering in the west. "I'll just hoe my row. I'll prove my ability by making the farm pay."

She sat up suddenly. Make the farm pay? Didn't she realize that after the jury came in she might not have even a chance at the farm? That she could be evicted this very night?

"I should have stayed right there in the courtroom," she cried. "Then I could have fought for myself. I wonder—oh, it's too late! Why didn't Allen let me know? Why couldn't he have been sporting enough to give me a chance?"

She cried into the sand now, with Pepper nosing her neck and whimpering with her.

Oh, Pepper, and I did like Allen in spite of his cussedness.

Pepper, finding his pink tongue inadequate to wiping up the tears, sat down on his haunches in consternation, then flattened out and waited.

The sobs quieted, stopped; Tomi slept.

The sun disappeared behind gathering clouds, the tide came in, little waves nibbling at Tomi's toes. They brought her up with a start. It was late and she was chilled through, miserably, aching with fatigue and desolation. Even Pepper had deserted her.

"Cherie, There you are!" Pierre slid down the little cliff and came to Tomi. "We've looked everywhere. Then the key leading me this way. Why, Tomi, what is wrong? Your eyes, I mean."

"Sunburn, probably," sighed Tomi. "I went to sleep here, and—"

Pierre's steady blue eyes were deep wells of sympathy. He had discarded his role of employee. He had taken her hands in his, was tucking the robe about her, returning to warm her hands.

"Tell me, you know?" he questioned.

Tomi nodded miserably.

"That Bartell," snapped Pierre. "I do not like the way he is handling these affairs."

For Sale or Trade

San Diego, Calif. (P)—The world's largest privately owned plane is for sale. Richard Archbold, wealthy naturalist, used the "Guba" for an expedition into the wilds of New Guinea in 1938, but unsettled international conditions have prevented a repetition of the trip. Its original cost was about $250,000.

Young Man—Yes, there is. How about the blonde in the blue dress?

You must have heard the one about the traveling salesman who said his wife was an angel—always up in the air, always harping on something, and never had anything to wear.

Farmer—I didn't say he did shoot 'em. I said I suspected him of doing it.

Counsel—Ah! Now we're coming to it. What made you suspect this man?

Farmer—Well, firstly, I caught him on my land with a gun. Secondly, I heard a gun go off and saw some pigeons fall. Thirdly, I found four of my pigeons in his pocket—and I don't think their birds flew there and committed suicide.

Moses—Does your wife take in washin'?

Patience—Ah should say not. Ah takes it in and Ah takes it out. All she does is stay home an' wash it.

Can Be Cured in Its Early Stages

"Tens of thousands of men and women are alive today, well and happy, who have had cancer and been cured of it," declares the American Society for the Control of Cancer in an appeal for public cooperation in the fight against the disease.

"Back of the fears and doubts," the society says, "that make the work of cancer control difficult lies the question, 'Can you really cure it?' The Gallup Poll found last year that one out of every three men and women did not know that cancer was curable. Yet the evidence is overwhelming. Cancer can be cured, is being cured and will in increasing numbers of cases in the future be cured."

Today, the American College of Surgeons has records of 30,000 men and women who have had the disease—it was diagnosed by microscopic examination in each case—and who have been cured for five, 10 or 15 years. There is no doubt that tens of thousands more patients have also been saved.

"Two years ago the Cured Cancer Club was launched with Dr. Anna C. Palmer, Milton, Mass., an 82 year old physician who was cured of cancer of the breast in 1921, as president. Membership is open to all those certified by a physician as having had cancer and been cured of it at least five years before."

"Cancer can be cured, but only in its early stages. It is essential that every man and woman know the two steps suggested by the Women's Field Army as necessary protection against letting cancer reach a stage where it is incurable: The first step is a complete annual medical examination and the second is a visit to a physician should any of the following symptoms that may point to cancer develop: Any persistent lump or thickening, particularly in the breast; any irregular bleeding or discharge from any body opening; any persistent and unexplained indigestion; any sore that does not heal normally, especially about the tongue, mouth or lips; any sudden change in the form or rate of growth or a mole or wart." More information may be secured from the local division of the Women's Field Army in Kingston. Mrs. Harold L. Rakov, city commander.

Would Feature American Music For Music Week

Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, well known writer and lecturer, who is not unknown in this section, speaking as chairman of the national committee for American music, says that his committee plans an active part in the observance of National Music Week, May 5 to 11.

"Promote American Music" has been taken as the permanent key-note for this annual observance, in addition to a special keynote selected each year. Dr. Spaeth's committee is preparing a list of contemporary American music, which it recommends and which shortly will be released.

Dr. Spaeth holds that "there is no greater service toward the making of a truly musical America than helping our people to become as well acquainted with the best work of Americans as so many of them already are with that of creative genius in Europe." By that he does not mean that a composition should be given preference just because it was written by someone born or naturalized in the United States.

Musical week chairmen are asked to include one or more numbers by American composers on all programs in their observance, except those devoted to a single composer. There are, it is stated, well over a hundred composers whose work "is well qualified to add lustre to the American label." It is suggested, also, that it would be well to have one all-American program during Music Week.

It is still some six or seven weeks before the start of Music Week, which gives time for planning and preparing for a creditable observance. Paul Zucca, chairman of the Music Week observance in Kingston, says that he expects this locality to make a most creditable showing this year, with various organizations and societies scheduling worth while programs for that week.

Bill on Salaries Of Prison Guards Passed in Senate

Albany, March 15 (Special)—The Senate has passed, and sent to the Assembly for concurrence, the bill of Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, providing that mounted patrolmen in state prisons and in Napanoch and Woodbourne institutions, shall receive the same compensation as that received by guards in state prisons.

The Senate has also approved the Wicks bill creating a board in the state education department for licensing and regulating the practice of optical dispensing and appropriating $10,000 to the department for carrying out provisions of the law.

Under this measure, which now goes to the Assembly for passage, licensed physicians and optometrists are exempted.

Senator Wicks has introduced in the Legislature a bill requiring owners of horses, combination hearses and ambulances transporting sick or injured persons along a highway in a town of less than 2,000 inhabitants, to secure a corporate surety bond or insurance policy to secure payment of damages, as is now required for motor carrier owners.

The bill went to motor transportation committee for further consideration.

Also offered by Senator Wicks is a bill appropriating $10,000 for research in control of the European corn borer by Cornell University, at Ithaca, or the agriculture experiment station at Geneva.

'Boot Stew' and Lizard Keep Lost Hunter Alive

Woodamsbury, cool-headedness and meals of boiled grass, boot stew and a lizard, are the reasons why Ross Snyder, 69-year-old California plumber, is alive today. Snyder was lost for seven days in the Converse Basin area of California's General Grant National park while on a hunting trip. Believed dead by many, Snyder had wisely waited for rescuers to find him instead of wandering aimlessly through the rugged Kings river country.

A searching party led by Marion McClurg, expert woodsman, found Snyder in his makeshift camp beside a board fence, part of which he had used for firewood. Suffering no apparent ill effects from his week-long isolation, Snyder told his rescuers how he built his fires and boiled grass, acorns and one lizard in a tin can for food.

"That lizard wasn't so bad, and I would have eaten more if I could have caught 'em. I made a wad of a stew out of my boot straps and my binocular case," he said.

Photography Without Camera

An interesting phase of photography is the making of pictures without the use of films or camera, a process simple for anyone who prints his own pictures. In making prints of leaves and insect wings, for example, results are in some respects superior to ordinary camera shots, bringing out detail. Wings or leaves must be perfect specimens, and pressed and dried, otherwise the ribs and veins will prevent perfect contact in printing and pictures will be "fuzzy," and therefore undesirable. When the specimen is placed right side up in the printing frame and a print is made in the usual way, the result will be a negative, or white-on-black print, writes John Willard Baechle in Nature Magazine.

Oldest Drop of Water

Scientists will be interested in the discovery of a single drop of water which, it is declared, must have remained encased in a solid lump of transparent amber for millions of years. The age of this particular piece of hardened gum of the conifer tree, taken from the famous amber beds in Hungary, has been placed by archeologists at 60,000,000 years. Provided that estimate even approaches accuracy, it makes that tiny drop of water the oldest drop on earth. The lump of amber, in which the prehistoric drop of water can be seen rolling around in its tiny case, has been mounted for preservation as a curiosity.

Artist at Craftsmen's Minstrel

Miss Lois Koch of Schenectady will appear as guest artist in a dance number at the minstrels to be presented by the Craftsmen's Club of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., at the Holy Cross parish hall on Thursday and Friday evening, March 28 and 29.

Miss Koch was physically handicapped at birth and at that time it was predicted she would never gain the use of her lower limbs. Through the cooperation of the Shriner's Association of Schenectady she became a patient at the Shriner's Hospital, Springfield, Mass., where she was operated on by Dr. Walter Hatt, noted surgeon. The success of this operation surpassed the doctor's expectations and Miss Koch is today enjoying excellent health. She has become an excellent dancer and has shown her appreciation to the Masonic fraternity by appearing in featured roles at various masonic functions in Albany and Schenectady. Miss Koch is a niece of William W. Smith in this city, who again this year is directing the Craftsmen's minstrel show and it is at Mr. Smith's request that Miss Koch has kindly consented to appear on the minstrel program.

Above is the Buick SPECIAL 4-door touring sedan $996*

YOU never yet saw a band come down the street without someone out in front setting the tempo, while someone back in the crowd obediently thumped in time.

So you'll get what we mean when we ask, why drive a car that's along just for the march—when you can pilot a Buick and show the others the way?

Maybe someday the others will have engines like velvet because they're electrically balanced after assembly; but Buick has them now.

Maybe tomorrow they will have coil springs all around that never need greasing—but Buick has them today.

Maybe sometime you'll get the front-hinged doors, five-foot front seat room and Foamtex cushions of the SUPER—maybe you'll get direction signals with automatic cut-off as standard equipment—but you can get those on the Buick you buy this year.

Maybe someday you'll get a car as long as Buick for the money, or with a frame as heavy without paying more.

But why take a chance on those maybes when this honey's here, ready for you to take over right now?

So drop in on your Buick dealer. Drop in to talk facts and figures, or drop in to see what next year's cars will try to look like.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

New Paltz, March 14—Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Brown, of Albany, visited his sister, Mrs. Ida Stephens, on Church street, Sunday.

The official board met in the Methodist church parlor Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Nostrand entertained guests Tuesday night.

Ruth Deyo, formerly of New Paltz has written to relatives in town that part of her music drama of ancient Egypt was performed last spring at the betrothal festivities of Princess Fauzia, sister of King Farouk, of Egypt, and Crown Prince Riza Pahlevi, of Persia.

The young prince landed at Alexandria, proceeded by air to Cairo and thence along the two-mile auto road bordered by cheering thousands to Abdin Palace. At a family dinner party given by the queen's mother that evening on her yacht on the Nile, he saw for the first time his bride-to-be. Arrangements had been made to have Miss Deyo's music drama, the words of which were written by her husband, Charles Dalton, performed in full in Covent Garden; but since the war has begun everything else in England has had a blackout. A music drama by the way differs from an opera in that it pays more attention to the words.

Mrs. Henry McCormick has received a memory quilt presented to her by the Rev. G. E. Montrose of Spencertown, a former pastor of the Plutarch and Rifton Methodist churches. The quilt was given to Mr. and Mrs. Montrose by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Plutarch church in the year 1902, and is embroidered with the names of many residents of Plutarch and neighboring places.

Mrs. McCormick was a resident in Plutarch for a number of years and attended and worked in the church there. Mr. Montrose is leaving Spencertown next month to make his home in the south.

The New Paltz Pioneer Club recently received a check for having its last year's secretary's book take tenth place among the other 4-H Dairy Clubs in New York state.

Frederick Yorks, of New Paltz was recently elected noble grand of Sunshine Lodge, I. O. O. F. of Highland.

Harry V. Harp spent last weekend with a party of friends in Quebec, and enjoyed some of the winter sports.

The preparatory class youths who wish to join the church met at the Methodist parsonage on Monday afternoon.

Monday evening the Fellowship Club met in the church parlors.

On Easter Sunday there will be a reception of members into the Methodist church.

Miss Marion B. Harp spent the week-end with Miss Julia Birmingham in New Rochelle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Powell, of Schenectady visited relatives in town recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Harp were recent business visitors in New York.

Mrs. Freston Paltridge, Phyllis and Kenneth Paltridge, of Modena visited relatives in town, Sunday.

Teachers of the Reformed Sunday school will meet at the home of the superintendent, Ralph Johnson, Thursday evening to make plans for the Easter activities of the Sunday school. They plan to hold the usual Easter breakfast with a worship service preceding.

Miss Elaine Kniffin of New York city spent the week-end at home.

New Paltz riflemen lost to Kingston shooters on Friday night by a score of 978 to 973. These inter-club matches are decided by the five highest scores of each team. In this event H. Mertz with 193, T. Lasher, 196, A. Paradise, 194, J. Dodd, 194 and H. Cramb, 193, had the highest scores for New Paltz. Early in April the outdoor matches of the mid-Hudson League will start. New Paltz team hopes to finish up near the top. Other interesting events scheduled for the future are on March 17, Small Bore Rifle Match, New Haven, Conn., sponsored by the Connecticut State Rifle and Revolver Association; on May 11 and 12, Tenth Annual Hudson Valley Small Bore Championship, Poughkeepsie, sponsored by the Poughkeepsie Rifle Club; April Postal matches with teams from Wellsburg, Chicago, West Virginia and Brooklyn.

New Paltz, March 13—Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Elmore were guests of the Misses Lillian and Frances Elmore and Isabelle Marden at Mount Vernon Sunday.

The O. M. N. and the F. F. A. of the high school will hold its dance Saturday, March 16, in the high school gymnasium.

The Study Club will meet March 19 with Kenneth Rignall, local florist, as guest speaker. His subject will be "Our Gardens."

Mr. and Mrs. George Hayes, Jr., and his mother, Mrs. Annie Hayes, of Middletown, called on Mrs. Webb Kniffin Sunday afternoon.

The local high school assembly program Friday included numbers played and sung by members of the band. A sousaphone solo by Donald DePuy, Principal Ray Cunningham, announced that Mary Jenkins, whose scholarship average is 92.1 per cent will be the valedictorian of this year's graduation class and Helen Atkins, whose scholarship average is 90.6 per cent, will be the salutatorian.

The flowers on the altar in the Reformed Church Sunday morning were presented by Mr. and Mrs. George Terpening in memory of their mother's anniversary of birth.

At a recent meeting of New Paltz Boy Scouts plans were made for a large exhibit for the Scout camp-o-ree which will be held in Kingston this year. At that time Scouts of the Ulster-Greene district will gather at the National Guard armory. There will be a parade together with many Scout contests. The exhibits will be in the armory. The New Paltz troop will exhibit a model of early New Paltz with houses made of some kind of plaster. This will be placed on a large table and will be decorated with a sun-color light.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schandel spent Saturday night and Sunday with friends in Poughkeepsie, and on Tuesday they celebrated their 18th wedding anniversary.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Surprise

Marcus Hook, Pa.—After a locomotive wrecked his automobile in a grade crossing accident, James S. Silecki didn't feel much like sticking around.

His face was cut, his back injured and several ribs were fractured; he went home for treatment.

Several hours later, police hauled him to his door and charged him with leaving the scene of an accident.

Majesty of the Law

Indianapolis—Thieves who took 96 gallon cans of apricot jam from a Civilian Conservation Corps truck dumped it into Fall Creek.

Three boys with long poles fished out 36 cans. They told their mothers. Their mothers told police.

A police emergency squad went to the place with a boat and draghooks, fished an hour—but couldn't bring up a single can.

Compensation

Albuquerque, N. M.—It's not a bad life, being a material witness for the United States government, say three Juarez, Mexico, residents.

Federal officers who escorted the trio back across the border disclosed the Mexicans had been held in Santa Fe as material witnesses nearly six months.

Each Mexican received board, room and $166, which is nearly 1,000 pesos at current exchange rates.

Where's the Fire?

Bingham, Utah—The fire siren in this mining city may mean:

1. There's a fire, or
2. It's 9 p. m. and all youngsters should be home in bed.

Bingham's firemen agreed to sound curfew for the city council after Councilman A. J. Ablett asserted: "Too many kids are chasing the streets."

Rude Awakening

Grand Island, Neb.—Like a cat toying with a mouse Officer M. G. Martin watched a man ransack an automobile near a downtown hotel.

"I'll get a perfect case on him," Martin told himself.

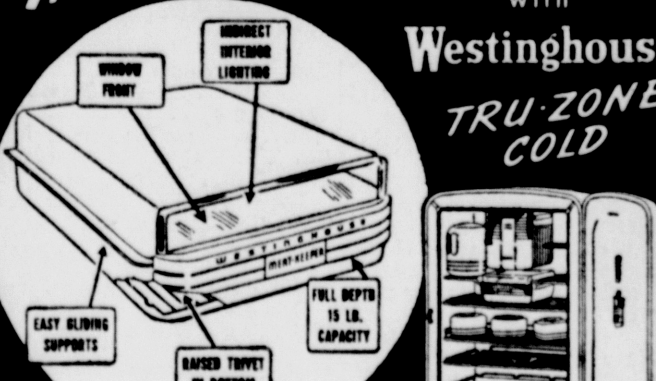

Like a cat out of the bag Martin sped to the arrest, realizing suddenly it was his car that was being ransacked.

He Was There

Aberdeen, S. D.—An unwanted caller escaped capture, but the investigation patrolman reported: "I can swear the skunk had been there."

BRIDE-TO-BE IS STRAIGHTENED ON THE PROPER MARKING OF SILVER

She Notes at Table of Friend Who Is Bride That Markings Look Upside-down to Her

The following letter reminds me somewhat of myself. It is said that I had been eating on some new plates several times a week, for almost two months when I wondered why we had never used them before. But this is the letter: "I had never noticed how silver was marked until I became engaged, and now I'm noticing everything. The other day at the table of a bride I noticed that her silver was marked in such a way as to look upside down to me as I sat in front of it. I inquired about this later in a jewelry store and they said this had always been the proper way to mark flat silver. Is this true? If it is, will you please explain why that is considered better than right side up?"

In answering this I have to say that you are wrong, because the bowl of the spoon, the prongs of the fork and the blade of the knife are foot end of each and the handles the head. If the initials were put on the way you suggest, the effect would be that of a figure with a head on which the features of the face were upside-down. If you are a surrealist you make like this but most people don't.

Why a Second Marriage Ceremony?

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter just told me that she and "John" have been married for six months. "John" is the boy we've known for many years. In fact, our families have always known each other. As none of us saw the ceremony, which was performed by a stranger, minister, we'd like to have another ceremony here at home and have our own clergyman perform it. May we send out announcements of the marriage, and if so, should the date of the other ceremony, or this new one, be used on them?

Answer: If they had been married by a magistrate, it would be understandable to have a religious ceremony now. But since they were married by a clergyman there is little excuse for repeating the ceremony. This is a question, however, that your own clergyman should have the privilege of deciding. To give a reception in their honor will be entirely proper. The usual wording of the invitation would be:

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Brown request the pleasure of your company at a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Wales Saturday evening, the fifteenth of April from 8 to 10 o'clock. But if you particularly want to announce the date of the marriage, the form might be:

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Brown request the pleasure of your company at a reception Saturday evening the 15th of April from eight to ten o'clock in honor of the marriage of their daughter Martha and

Mr. John Wales Friday, the sixth of October one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine Springfield, Ohio (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

New Shorthand Course For Easy Home Study

Prepare for a Well-Paid Job

"Sorry we have no opening for you—but modern industry wants skilled workers," the personnel manager explains.

Yes, without a special skill such as shorthand, you're at a disadvantage looking for a job today. Luckily, shorthand isn't hard to learn. You can teach yourself at home in your spare time.

For the widely-used Pitman shorthand is just a shorter, simpler way of writing. Instead of spelling out a word, you write brief symbols for the way it sounds. "Sorry," for example, is a stroke with a loop, a short dash, a dot. "But" is a short, straight stroke.

Since the thousands of words in our language are just different combinations of the same few sounds, you won't have many symbols to learn. With a little practice each day, you soon are able to follow dictation.

And Pitman helps you by providing brief, time-saving symbols for common phrases such as "I thank you," "he may be."

Prepare yourself for the next job opening. Our new 32-page booklet gives shorthand symbols word-signs and phrase forms in easy step-by-step lessons. Shows how to acquire job-holding speed, accuracy.

Habel Purchases Downtown Store

Charles Habel of 89 Broadway has purchased the three-story brick store and residential building at 91 Broadway, which had been occupied for more than 40 years as a fruit store by the late Barney Mann.

Mr. Habel, with his son, George, operates a traveling dry goods and clothing store. Just what he intends to do with the building he has purchased is not known.

The building for years was occupied by Mr. Mann and his family, using the ground floor for a store and the two upper floors as living apartments. Since Mr. Mann's death last May the store has been closed.

Mrs. Mann plans to make her home with her son, Sam N. Mann, local real estate broker, on Abel street.

Four of Principals in 'Hottest' Election

All four candidates appear equally confident as they stride into the home stretch of Ellenville's campaign for police justice which will be decided at village election Tuesday. From left: Attorney Herman Cohen, Republican; Attorney Philip Slutsky, Democrat; Melvin D. Schoonmaker, Independent Democrat, and Attorney Benjamin Lonstein, Independent Voters Party choice.

Biggest Vote in Ellenville's History Is Expected Tuesday

Ellenville, March 15 — Officials are anticipating the biggest vote in Ellenville's history when residents go to the polls to name a police justice and two trustees here next Tuesday.

A bitter, four-cornered battle is raging in the campaign for the police justice post, with two independent candidates in the field in addition to regular Republican and Democratic standard-bearers.

Attorney Herman Cohen, incumbent, is the Republican candidate. He was appointed police justice last December to succeed Attorney Charles F. Kaiser, who resigned after being elected supervisor in November.

Attorney Philip Slutsky was nominated to run on the Democratic ticket.

Melvin D. Schoonmaker has entered the race as an Independent Democrat and Attorney Benjamin Lonstein is running under colors of the Independent Voters party.

Two Trustees
In the race for two seats on the Board of Trustees, George Rippert, present member whose term is expiring, and Otis Lapp are Republican candidates.

Louis Zipperman, another incumbent, and Chester Bradford are running on the Democratic slate for trustees.

Police Justice Cohen, a native of Waterbury, Conn., was graduated from Waterbury public schools and the University of Pennsylvania with a B. A. degree. He received his law degree at Cornell in 1932.

Attorney Cohen clerked with Arthur B. Ewig at Kingston until June, 1933. He was admitted to the New York Bar in May, 1933. He came to Ellenville in June of that year and has since been practicing here.

He was acting police justice from May, 1938 to May, 1939. Since his appointment, last December, Mr. Cohen established an enviable record for efficiency and it was on this basis that he was selected to succeed himself by the Republican caucus.

Has Served 8 Years
Attorney Philip Slutsky, a life-long resident of Ellenville, was graduated from Ellenville schools and was associated with William D. Cunningham. He has served as justice of the peace for more than eight years and is a practicing attorney.

Mr. Schoonmaker, native of Accord, has made his home here since 1906. He has been a justice of the peace since 1929 and served as acting police justice for six years.

Attorney Lonstein was born in Brooklyn. In 1919 his family moved to a farm near Ellenville and Lonstein graduated from the Ellenville High School. He received his law degree from New York University.

Village Clerk Alice I. Moffit said yesterday that polls would be open an extra hour next Tuesday, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., instead of 11 to 6 as in previous years, to accommodate the large number of voters expected because of the four-way fight for the office of police justice.

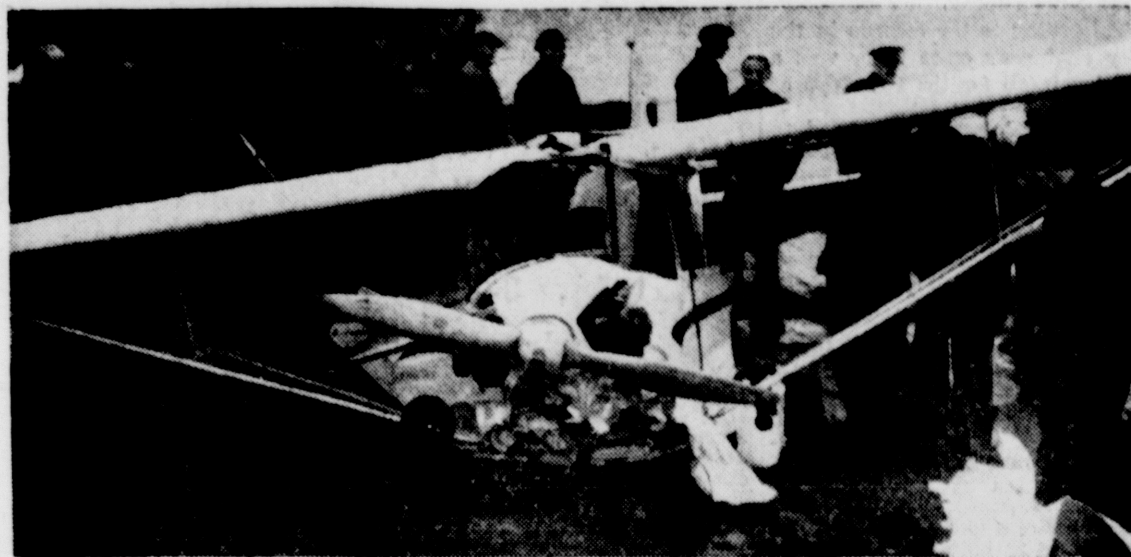

"We shall probably have the heaviest vote on record," said Miss Moffit yesterday. "The last big poll in Ellenville was for Sunday movies in the early Thirties."

Legion to Meet

Plane Crashes as Pilot and Passenger Fight

This is Pilot Joseph Rosemarin's small cabin plane after it was pulled from New York harbor off Jersey City, N. J., where it crashed during what police described as a battle in the air between Rosemarin and a passenger who said he wanted to take flying lessons. Rosemarin, slightly injured when he was rescued by a tugboat, said the passenger struck him over the head with a pair of pliers after jamming the plane controls into a dive. The passenger could not be found.

Police List Death Of Plane Passenger As 'Simply Suicide'

Jersey City, N. J., March 15 (AP)—The death of a man tentatively identified as Emanuel Eisenberg, 35, of New York, who was killed yesterday when a small training plane fell into New York bay following a mid-air struggle between passenger and pilot, was recorded by police today as "simply a case of suicide," although the body had not been recovered.

Eisenberg's body was found today at low tide near the Bayonne port terminal. Police said Eisenberg's name was on the inside of a gray overcoat and a New York state income tax blank bearing his name was found in a pocket.

Police placed a guard around the room of Pilot Joseph Rosemarin, 38, of Brooklyn, at the Medical Center, where he was under treatment for shock and submersion, however, after a fugitive from justice warrant was lodged against him by Staten Island, N. Y. authorities.

Police Inspector Henry Gautier said the warrant contained a charge of felonious assault filed against the aviator by Joseph McKenny, assistant district attorney of Staten Island. Gautier said Rosemarin was accused of hitting the passenger with a pair of pliers during the wild flight over three of New York city's boroughs.

Technical Charge
Jersey City police said they believed the charge was "purely a technical one."

Mortimer Rabson, New York attorney and a friend of Rosemarin, and a New York woman, made the tentative identification. The pilot, an instructor for the Standard Flying School at Floyd Bennett Airport in Brooklyn, said the man came to the field yesterday morning and asked for a flying lesson.

Rabson told police Eisenberg, a New York press agent and theatrical writer, had resigned as press agent for the Group Theatre in New York last year and gone to Mexico to write a book. He said he had seen him in New York recently.

Miss Ruth Eisenberg informed police her cousin Emanuel had gone aloft with a pilot named Rosemarin.

From his hospital bed Rosemarin told Police Captain Fred Drewen a graphic story of the terrifying trip. He said that his passenger became terror-stricken while flying over Brooklyn and "leaned over and hit me over the head with pliers."

"I struck back and knocked him unconscious," the pilot said. "I was unable to control the plane and had to land."
After the plane hit the water, Rosemarin said he climbed out of the cabin and struggled the fuselage. He was rescued a few minutes later by a tug.

The captain of the lighter which raised the plane with a boom said he saw a body drop into the bay.

Governor Asks Regents Board To Reconsider His Suggestion

Albany, N. Y., March 15 (AP)—Governor Lehman called today upon the New York Board of Regents to consider his recommended $24,900,000 savings in state education costs and "persuade legislative leaders of the necessity of bringing about these economies this session."

The governor sent a letter to Chancellor Thomas J. Mangan and Owen D. Young, a board member, 24 hours after assailing what he termed the Republican-controlled legislature's rule of thumb "education appropriation cut in its 'economy' budget."

"The board of regents is thoroughly familiar with these recommendations to achieve substantial permanent savings," Lehman said. "It is my understanding that the board is meeting this afternoon (New York city 2 p. m., E.S.T.) and I would appreciate the board giving consideration to my special message to the legislature yesterday."

day so that it will formulate a definite course of action to persuade legislative leaders of the necessity of bringing about these economies this session.

"I believe that the legislative leaders will be much influenced by a demand from the board of regents that steps to achieve these economies should be undertaken at once."

Lehman recommended to the legislature an ultimate $24,900,000 saving by reducing the state's 8,000 separate school districts and decreasing the number of district school superintendents. He called the legislature's attention to specific recommendations for education reductions suggested in a regents' inquiry.

The Republican legislative majority immediately answered the governor's message with the assertion that spending would continue until "the education department is given some administrative power to clamp down on localities' spending."

Pension Hearing Set for Tuesday

Mayor C. J. Heiseleman has fixed Tuesday afternoon, March 26, at 2 o'clock as the date for holding a public hearing on the two local pension laws, which make drastic changes in the present police and fire pension systems. Both bills were adopted by the common council Tuesday evening by a vote of 10 to 3.

Under the provisions of the state home rule law it is necessary for the mayor to hold public hearings before signing or rejecting the bills.

It is understood that the police expect to be represented in opposition to the bills at the public hearing.

Crusaders Play Millbrook In Hudson Valley Game At Auditorium Tonight

In what looks to be the outstanding basketball game to date in the Hudson valley basketball tournament is scheduled to take place at the municipal auditorium tonight at 9 o'clock. The Poughkeepsie Crusaders will tangle with the Millbrook Millionaires. The Crusaders are the defending champions and are plugging for their last bid in the run this season. Having been knocked off twice by the Clermonts in the Wallkill Basketball League and twice during the season by Millbrook, the Crusaders, a good tournament team, are out to try an upset.

The Millionaires have in their lineup the following: Robert Rogers, Augie Benza, Vincent Sepe, Jr., Fred Flanagan, Vincent Turletti, Dasher Ciferri, Buck Gros, Loren Baker, Jerry Gail and Carmen Fisher among others.

The Crusaders will have the same lineup that has carried them through some five campaigns: Podes, Sokol, Ruffo, Natt Doffinger, Jones, Phillips, Tuttle, Whitesell, Kozlowski, Storeman.

In second round encounters the Crusaders won very handsily over the Highland Holy Name, 47-32. Whitesell, Ruffo and Jones were high men. Millbrook topped the French Dye Works who represented Kingston High School this year, 37-25, in a hard fought encounter. Dasher Ciferri tossed in the winning counter. In their season play Millbrook was noted for not playing out their string, always giving just enough to win. Buck Gros wasn't present for the first encounter and his appearance will undoubtedly strengthen the Millbrook attack. It is rumored that one, Ernie Downer, might be present with the Millionaires when they take the floor Friday night.

The winner of this encounter will meet the Hudson Elks in a semi-final game Tuesday night. This tournament is being run by the Y. M. C. A. with the cooperation by the City Recreation Commission. A winning team trophy will be awarded the winner by the Recreation and a sportsman trophy will be donated by the Y. M. C. A. The first three teams will receive individual awards.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

Anaheim, Calif.—Sammy Chapman appears headed for a big year with the Philadelphia Athletics.

In his first look at major league pitching yesterday against the Pittsburgh Pirates he turned defeat into victory, hitting a homer with two on in the sixth, driving two runs with a triple in the seventh and getting one of three hits in the 14th. The clubs meet again today.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—In a meeting made increasingly rare by the Yankees' aptitude for getting into old series play and the Giants' ability to do the same thing, the two New York clubs have a date in the Grapefruit League today.

The Yanks' victory over the Cincinnati Reds yesterday to run their streak of Florida victories to six straight and a seventh over the Reds would be most welcome.

Yankees Can Be Purchased for Satisfactory Sum

New York, March 15 (AP)—The New York Yankees, a nice bauble in financial as well as baseball figures, are for sale but it looks like they will be at the same old stand for the same owners when the American League season opens next month.

Many prospective purchasers have been mentioned in recent months and there was quite a flurry yesterday over reports that Governor Francis P. Murphy of New Hampshire had virtually completed a deal for a syndicate.

The governor admitted that he had inquired into the possibility of the sale several weeks ago, but denied that negotiations were now underway or that he had submitted an outright proposition.

So all that the flame-fanning yesterday accomplished was smoking out an admission from the Yankee officials that the club could be had for a satisfactory sum.

Edward G. Barrow, president of the club and one of the trustees of the late Col. Jacob Ruppert, said that two or three legitimate offers had been made within the last year, but that none is now under consideration.

George Ruppert, another trustee and head of the brewery family since his brother's death January 13, 1939, asserted, "The Yankees have not been sold and there is no indication they will be sold for some time to come. When and if the club is sold the deal will require a considerable length of time."

The stock in the club is held in trust for two nieces of Col. Ruppert, Mrs. Joseph Holleran and Mrs. J. Basil McGuire, and a friend, Helen Winthrop Weyant, a former actress. They were the beneficiaries of Ruppert's fortune estimated at $40,000,000, of which his baseball holdings supposedly are worth between $6,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Sports writers have tagged two nicknames on Lee Savold, the young heavyweight from Iowa. One is "Lethal Lee" and the other is "Cornbelter."

Six Persons Die In Charlotte Fire, Nine Others Hurt

Tommy Charity, 15, Charlotte, the small son of Mrs. Winifred Charity, a hairdresser.

Edward Martin, about 21, Charlotte, a student.

Two of the dead were injured in jumps from the blazing building.

Firemen who reached the scene shortly before 2 a. m., found the block-long, three-story brick and stone structure a blazing inferno, with many persons, clad in their night clothes, trapped on the upper two stories.

Upper story residents, choked by clouds of smoke, leaped to the cement alleyways.

When the first fire alarm came, the entire half of the big building was in flames.

Firemen rescued a number of trapped persons with ladders. Many of the occupants of the building said they were first awakened by screams and the wail of countless sirens, to find their rooms filled with smoke and flames.

Also a large number of spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were placed nearby. During the time the body was at home hundreds called to offer their deep sympathy to his wife, father, sisters and brothers. On Wednesday evening the Holy Name Society, of which the deceased was a member, called at the home and were led in the recitation of the Rosary by Father Malinowski, and on Thursday morning turned out in a body and acted as an honorary escort. The bearers were Joseph Betley, Stanley Hrobocinski, Frank Rylewick, Bernard Kaminski, Thomas Finerty and Frank Wroblewski. The large funeral cortege was accompanied to Mt. Calvary Cemetery by Father Malinowski, who pronounced the final absolution at the grave.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock funeral services were to be held for Muriel C., two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Black of Broadway, from the N. D. J. Murphy Funeral Home on Maiden Lane with burial in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery. The child died in the Kingston Hospital on Wednesday as the result of burns suffered on Tuesday evening when she upset a pot of boiling soup. Shortly before the tragedy Mrs. Black was in the room adjoining the kitchen playing with her children, Muriel and Alfred. Then she arose, leaving the two children playing on the floor while she went to the kitchen and removed the pot of soup from the coal range where it was cooking and placed it on top of another stove in which there was no fire so that it could be cooled off before serving it for supper. After placing the pot of soup on the other stove she walked back to the kitchen range on the opposite side of the room and as she was putting a shovel of coal on the fire the little girl ran into the kitchen from the other room and while her mother's back was turned grasped the handle of the soup pot, upsetting it. Mr. Black was out of town at the time of the tragedy and did not reach Kingston until 6 o'clock the next morning.

Tractor Trailer and Car Collide Near Port Ewen
A car driven by George Elwyn of Woodstock and a tractor-trailer from Liberty, sideswiped on the curve near the Port Ewen school house about 9 o'clock this morning. There were no injuries and no serious damages. The tractor left the highway and went against the guard fence and a snow bank, when the driver tried to avoid the collision. Deputy Sheriff Vredenburg and Brown held up traffic and assisted the driver in getting his truck under way once more.

Sentenced to Death

Paris, March 15 (AP)—A former second lieutenant in the German army, Karl Schmerer-Stenberg, was sentenced to death today by a military court on a charge of espionage. He is a native of Vienna and was arrested in Paris last July.

Washington, March 15 (AP)—Supporters of legislation to broaden the Hatch anti-politics act won a major test today when the Senate approved, 47 to 30, a key section forbidding political activity by state workers paid partly from federal funds.

Previous efforts to modify the provision to permit "voluntary" political activity had failed. Today's was the first direct Senate vote on the restriction itself.

Republicans, remaining consistent in their stand for the broadening legislation, voted solidly to apply the restriction to state-federal employees.

Earlier, Senator Hatch (D., N. M.), author of the legislation, had accepted an amendment by Senator Brown (D., Mich.) to make it clear that the bill would not affect state employees paid solely with state funds.

Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) attacked the constitutionality of the bill, saying that it contained an unauthorized delegation of power to the civil service commission. The legislation provides that the commission shall make rules defining "pernicious political activity."

The vote on the key section did not mean in itself that the legislation actually had been approved although it indicated eventual approval. Due to the parliamentary procedure under which the bill was being considered several sections were subject to separate consideration before the final vote.

Another congressional controversy, that over inclusion of personal income questions in the census, had the attention of President Roosevelt today.

Although a cold prevented him from holding his usual Friday morning press conference, the Chief Executive sent word through his Secretary Stephen Early that he considered one Senator critical of census procedure to be advocating violation of the law. Senator Tobey (R-NH) has led the fight against the income questions.

Early said to reporters:

"The President would have told you that for the first time in his knowledge, a United States Senator openly advised the American people to violate the law."

In the Senate Senator Clark (D-Idaho) introduced a resolution to break off diplomatic relations with Russia in protest over the Soviet's successful invasion of Finland.

Canadian Wild Horses Head for 'Last Roundup'

War has been declared on the wild horses that infest the cattle ranges of British Columbia's Cariboo district along the course of the Fraser river.

Because the wild steeds graze on valuable pasture land the government and ranchers have sworn to slaughter them to the last stallion. Again, after 15 years of desultory skirmishing with the wild horse, Indian and white men alike are oiling their repeater rifles in preparation for the big drive.

"Kill the wild horse!" is the slogan of the posters tacked to hitching posts and pasted to gas pumps from Lone Butte to Red Rock.

In the past 12 years more than 10,000 wild steeds have been slain in the vast ranges of the Cariboo, chiefly in the land west of the Fraser river.

The last great roundup was in 1925. The animals were driven into corrals and offered for sale at $3 a head. The leftovers—thousands of them—were shot. At the same time the government posted a bounty of $2.50 for a pair of horse ears and a scalp.

The bounty system has lapsed, and the only inducement to professional horse hunters has been the cent-a-pound offered by dog-food canners and fox ranchers.

Under the existing method of grazing only any rancher who wants to dispose of horses at large contrary to the range law can get a permit from the forestry department of the provincial government for $2.50 that entitles him to assemble all the horses he finds on a certain section of the range.

The owner of a horse carrying a registered brand may, on payment of $2.50 to the rounder, redeem his horse. If the owner fails to buy back his animal, it will share the same fate as the rest.

But now the roundup is to go forward relentlessly. Where droves of horses cannot be corralled, they will be shot by the rounder as he fires from his saddle, whether the target's brand is visible or not.

Win War With Snakes, Naturalist Tells Allies

TORONTO, ONT.—V. C. Keachie, naturalist and author of a book on serpents, has popped up with an idea:

"Snakes could win the war for the allies and save the lives of millions of men."

Keachie says snakes could be dropped from the air at points in the enemy's line where most troops were concentrated—to affect the enemy's morale.

But Keachie seems to forget that the Germans might turn the tables on the "snake-charmers." What if the Germans did not like the snakes, and promptly turned them about, so that they would wriggle and crawl back to the Allied front?

Cancels Engagements

Washington, March 15 (AP)—Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, White House physician, ordered President Roosevelt's engagements cancelled today and had the Chief Executive remain in his quarters because of a cold. McIntire said the President had one degree of temperature this morning and was "achy and grippy." His condition was described as a holdover from a cold that kept him confined to his quarters earlier in the week.

them. (The Russian command had reported Viipuri was occupied five hours before hostilities ended at 11 a. m., March 13.)

Juho Koivisto, assistant minister of agriculture in charge of moving the homeless civilians, said they were not required to leave the ceded territories, but that practically all of them were leaving. About 2,000 persons are remaining, however, at Hanko, leased to Russia for a naval base.

The Karelian isthmus, turned over to the army during the war, already was almost empty of civilians. Most of those now on the move are from north of Lake Ladoga.

The Finnish government is paying all costs of moving and resettlement and will try to keep together friends and neighbors in new homes, Koivisto said.

Nevertheless, "very grave social problems" are involved, he pointed out, for the shock of moving families from ancestral homes is a serious one.

Some of the farming population will be placed in western Finland near Vaasa. Karelian isthmus fishermen will be given homes on the Gulf of Bothnia so they can continue their vocations.

All available trucks, automobiles and railway cars are being used to hasten the removals. The government refused to let newspapermen visit the frontiers for the present, pleading the need of every vehicle.

Children in Majority at Opening Event

Children of school age were in majority last night at the annual spring opening sponsored by the Uptown Business Men's Association. Here a group put their knowledge of arithmetic to work in an attempt to estimate the retail value of a window and win one of the prizes offered by the merchants. The contests will be continued tonight, according to a statement made this morning, so that all interested will have an opportunity to see the latest in spring fashions and merchandise offered by local merchants.

Students Make Trip to Manhattan

The 37 students that made the trip had the honor of being the first passengers in one of the six new General Motors Highway Liners, being put into operation by the Adirondack Transit Lines which operate between New York, Kingston, and Lake Placid. This new liner is of the latest design and is equipped with pressure ventilation. With the delivery of the remaining five liners now on order, it will make a total of 11 new busses put into service by the local line within the past year, since five were purchased last year.

Girl Scouts ULSTER COUNTY COUNCIL

Council News

A birthday message to Girl Scouts on the 28th birthday of the organization was received on Tuesday evening by the local Ulster County Council from Miss Prian, regional program director. In her statement Miss Prian congratulated the local council on its progress and expressed her delight in meeting new members who were so enthusiastic in the work of the Scouts on the occasion of the birthday of Girl Scouts. She said: "The first troop of Girl Scouts came into being in 1912. It was on March 12 that the first Scout troop met. That troop was the cornerstone of the great structure which has been built during the past 28 years. The cornerstone was laid by Juliette Low, our founder, whose memory we honor tonight."

Preceding the meeting the council met for dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel. It was a great pleasure to Mrs. Parker Brinnier, the commissioner, to welcome members from Ellenville, Nanuet, New Paltz, High Falls and Port Ewen, besides the large district committee from Kingston. Miss Finetta Norton, itinerant director, who is stationed in New Paltz at present, was present and stated that she was enjoying her stay in Ulster county and was looking forward to her work in Kingston. This is the second year to have Miss Norton here. Miss Helen Hasbrouck, camp committee chairman, spoke briefly about the Girl Scout Camp Wendy which is located at Wallkill. The camp will open this year on Sunday, July 7, and remain open for eight weeks, the last two of which will be one week encampments. Miss Hasbrouck expressed the wish that more Ulster county girls would take advantage of the camp because it does offer excellent training for Scouts.

Troop News

merchants for estimates of their contest windows the Association is offering a grand prize of $25 for the estimate which is closest to the total value of all the contest windows in the area. Coupons for individual window estimates will be again available this evening and those desiring to enter an estimate for all of the windows and enter the $25 grand prize a coupon for that estimate will be found in last Wednesday's Freeman.

While the weather was bad Thursday evening and but comparatively few people were in the business area several of the merchants today reported having received a number of estimates on their windows. Outside the weather might have been dreary and dismal but inside the store windows there was a brilliancy of merchandise which amply paid those who braved the weather for their effort. Several of the stores without a doubt displayed the most elaborate windows in the history of Kingston and these windows will remain in place today so that all may have an opportunity to view them and place their estimate of value. Estimates for each store must be deposited in the ballot box in front of participating stores.

Estimates for the grand prize may be sent direct to P. O. Box 816 or deposited in the mail slot at the Uptown Freeman office, 239 Fair street. All estimates must be either sent in or bear postoffice cancellation not later than midnight March 15.
